SterJo Wireless Passwords application is a software utility that allows you to recover lost or forgotten wireless network passwords. This Windows program can search for the presence of all detectable wireless networks and scan the content of each of them. Scanning takes place automatically upon connection to a wireless network and can be repeated by pressing the button. All found passwords are displayed along with relevant parameters: IP address, encryption mode, network name and authentication method. In case the password is recovered, the program will display it in plain text. You can set some details about the recovered network, including the network name, password and encryption mode. This password-recovery software will work with all operating systems that support Wireless Zero Configuration (WZC) network monitoring, including Windows, Linux, Netware and MacOS.
