Or does it mean "I want to go to India today so I want to buy some beluga"? A: The translation is not good. For a better translation, notice the positions of 我想 and 去印度. Parties So, I'm having a mixed-media party and I thought I'd share some pics with you all. The first is my banner, made out of Washi and with some crepe paper and the great magick stencils (the green thing). Then here's my finger-painted table, which I think is a tad weird, but I'm not sure what else to do with it. Next is my gift bag, which I really am quite pleased with. The great thing about this one is that it's based on my favourite portrait from the set, so when your friends open the bag they have one idea of what they're getting. The last pic is of my recent crafting zen patchwork. I enjoy working on this, especially when it's about to be a present, because it's so special. I did a little bit of shopping today, and I got some purchases that are new for me - mainly shabby, (which is a nice chippy black wood veneer) and some decorative shagpile from Bohemian Spools in... spools. I brought you up in magic, on a moonlit mountain ridge. I gave you all a great big hand, and sent you out to journey in the dark woods. Now I'll go to work, for I must make some magic potions.
