>Simple and powerful animated cartoon creator. >Create your own characters or import existing characters. >Create lifelike voice and face expressions using photos of your friends, family, and you. >Animate your friends' mouths and gestures over their photo. >"Animate Skype with loads of content you can download from the web or create yourself with CrazyTalk's character creator. Share them with your friends whenever you like, using whatever photo you like, animated however you like to become the face of whoever or whatever you want to be!" The original Snapchat code was discovered on my web host server (hostgator) last year. I do not know if the author of this code is or has been employed by Snapchat, but the code is about as 'simple' as it gets. The code is really simple and it contains almost all the features of Snapchat... so what exactly is it? So here it is in all its minimalist glory: The code is pretty simple and consists of about 30 lines of code. Some of the functions such as message deletion have been already implemented and some others like the background animation have been left open for improvement. But what does the code do? It allows you to easily create your own 'filters' and 'effects'. You can change the duration of the 'effects' and also the transparency or opacity of the 'filters'. You can also set the screen orientation of the filter to portrait or landscape. So what kind of filters and effects can you make? You can make all kinds of filters or effects and you can choose your own name for the 'filter' or 'effect'. You can make the filter transparent or not, with a delay between frames, clear the message, change the text or leave it the same, or you can set the name of the file that you are using to change the 'filters' on the message. You can also apply an effect to the whole screen or the background, set the opacity or fullness of the background, and create your own animated GIF. So what are some of the examples of filters and effects that you can make? You can create a picture-rotation effect by setting the background as a picture and then rotating the image. You can also create a desaturated video effect by using a picture as a background and then adding text in front of the image. You can then change the location of the text with varying colors and you
