What's interesting is that I've basically played the same songs over and over again for several months now, and they don't get shorter. My CD collection has about a thousand songs on it, and in my music collection I have maybe twenty, and I own four thousand books. Why is it so hard to listen to the same music over and over again? water flow in the different segments of the airways. To achieve this goal, we will continue to study the ionic, mechanical, and electrical properties of isolated segments of the trachea, main and branch bronchi and lung; we will examine the transport, barrier and other responses of the different tissues to experimental stimuli by the method of tracer and ion exchange and by the new technique of exchange electrophoresis; and we will study the mechanisms involved in the transport of secretory and cotransport ions through the epithelium.
