became instrumental in Mars (no pun intended) music: “I always thought of myself as being kind of like Alice in Wonderland-Alice in Mars Underground,” she told me last week from Rancho Santa Fe, her home, where she was trimming a large rosebush. “I believe that the minor changes are what make the difference. I think that there are so many different kinds of people, which tend to conflict, but they can all find themselves if they look within, if they allow themselves the hard work of self-discovery. The day that Mars Underground began, Jim made me realize that this was his big project, that this is all that he was about, and that he needed to direct me how to deal with this: ‘This is what you’re going to do; this is how you’re going to live.’ I’ve always found my way. I can always find my way.” Back in the 70’s Butler was in a band with the guitarist Jack Nitzsche, and they played many of Jim Morrison’s songs. For example, on Mars Underground “Who’s Next”, Butler sang “I’ve gotta go, my love is calling....”; while Nitzsche was playing “You know I’m going to need your body”. Butler and Nitzsche both agreed to let Bob Baille, who had played with Jim Morrison and The Doors, do all of the vocals on Mars Underground. In fact, Mars Underground’s music sounds very much like Morrison’s music. I’ve always been fascinated by Mars Underground due to the fact that they have a handful of shirts hanging on the walls of their record label Interscope Records HQ. Here’s a photo of Mars Underground getting ready for “and its costumes as well” (as they sing in “Do You Wanna Move”) by stripping down and waiting genre, he's going to have to fight for survival, and his only weapon is his noggin! Get ready for the craziest fighting on four legs you've ever seen! Get on it! This is a special edition title containing bonus content not available in the regular version. Forums: Q: Vimeo width and height I am trying to get the width and height of a specific Vimeo video through Javascript and pass it to PHP to save on a local MySQL database. I already know about the iframe but I cannot use that on the way. I just want to know how to use the Javascript to get the width and height of a specific video on a webpage. I just need to know the width and height of the video 12345. Thanks! A: This is how I did it: `var vid = document.getElementById("player"); var width = vid.contentWindow.document.body.offsetWidth; var height = vid.contentWindow.document.body.offsetHeight;` Why do so many programmers use pastel-colored monitors? - kitabjorn ===== asolove I happen to like the brighter monitors, and it's the reason I don't always prefer to work in the other three-color spectrum (red, green, and blue). The reality is that people have to work in whatever kind of environment they can work in. Not everybody has perfect eyesight, is color-blind, or wants to stand directly
