It consists of a flame plume in which the flame appears to freeze. This flame can be seen in landscapes at lower levels of illumination. It is much more visible in underlit places than bright light. One can observe the frozen flame by watching the flames in a gas station, a diesel engine, or a car's exhaust pipe. The apparent freezing effect is due to temperature inversion in the atmosphere. The frozen flame is often absent in the sky, but when the frozen flame appears it can be dramatic. Frozen flames are usually found in the evenings, as the temperatures drop and the air becomes increasingly stable. Although the name frozen flame is used for this phenomenon, this occurs only in atmospheres with temperatures below freezing. It is not the same phenomenon as the "ice" flames that are sometimes observed. When there are temperature inversions, the air cools down and becomes more dense. The normal thermal convection of the atmosphere is disrupted and a layer of cooler air forms, which is very stable and is heated slowly by the sun. It is usually not dense enough to inhibit the flame - only the stability of the air column inhibits the flame. Media's new festival BBQX Teams of musical veterans - Van Morrison, Captain Beefheart, Gang Of Four, J Parker, Judy Henske - and newer kids - Valerie June, Throwing Muses and Gravy Train among them - will take to the stage at the SeaBeach BBQX Festival this weekend. The quintet will be known as Lethal League Blaze. The team recently announced a couple of bills in advance for the festival, headlining on the big stage and sharing the smaller stage with Charlo Johnson and High Dive. After Duke, after thee! Prepare for a lifetime of no joujits for the Thirsty Ear trio. Hear their pioneering work in the late '90s, their contemporary releases, and their non-rap project, Duke, Duke (not the RZA). And their Big Apple debut, on Dec. 8 at Encore. The trio comes to Hard Rock, 5100 Oak Ave., Oak Brook, Friday, Nov. 13, $39.50, 18 and up. Just when you think the Beggars' organ trio can't get any better, Wednesday, they're opening for the legendary Harry Nilsson. Come hear their soulful jazz sounds with their British colleague, Banhammer, at the cozy DePaul. Book by phone, 312-337-5800. The Hoppers see New York City for the first time, playing a free show in Chicago at DePaul's Graham Hall, 6711 S. Greenwood Ave., Monday, Nov. 9, 5:30-6:30 p.m. Fact: Most bands will tell you they've been making music for five years or more. The Hoppers have been around since 1956. Their sound is a folksy blend of melodic hillbilly blues and standard blues, and tradition blues. You're not seeing anything new here. In fact, there hasn't been many new bands to come along the past four decades. They find that's OK. Smokey Robinson named Derek Trucks one of the best guitarists in America, and Trucks has been instrumental in bringing soul and gospel to Trucks's own music. He's the rare star who's seen all sides of the music business and worked his way to the top in both the pop and R&B worlds. Trucks brings that understanding to the music, crafting a challenging mix of classic R&B, gospel and Hendrix as he's counted down the years.

Making Home is an original videogame soundtrack by four-time Mercury Prize nominee Jordan Rees and award-winning musician Paul Zervas which uniquely blends the over-ear headphone element of musique concrète with the drama, immediacy and lyricism of music-game hybrids like Banjo-Kazooie. 1. An American Home (46:13) Who lives here with you? What road is this? Who comes this way? Are you safe at home? 2. Music to Drive to (38:08) Is this how you like to go to work? 3. Dreaming a Country Dream (48:31) I met some country boys in town, Would you take the same old road home? The dream is in the stars, Would you like to have a party? 4. Where the Wild Rose Grows (24:34) You have the face of an angel, Would you come with me to my place? 5. Saturday Night (36:56) Welcome to the Country of the Chunkin' Chin-lins (Oahu) Can you sit this one out? Can't you just come home? 6. One Day at a Time (47:45) Can you imagine the day when we're never alone? 7. Fireworks (26:21) Would you like to go for a walk along the lake? I would like to have a party, Have a go at it if you will What's the best thing that you'll find? -the beauty of flowers -the sun in the sky -the stars at night -the love in your heart More making home music for making home 1.2: Could you steal the sun? Could you steal the moon? You are too young for these games, And too good for the drugs that I feed I think you better find your home, You better find your real, real home. Could you steal the sun? Could you steal the moon? You are too young for these games, And too good for the drugs that I feed I think you better find your home, You better find your real, real home. - For Aleks and Ben, Petar, Hevish and Vitaly - For Svetlana, Nick and Izabela - For the amazing people of Kazakhstan -
