When we originally reported about the “Infinite Warfare” expansion, we told you that Activision would roll out a teaser a few days before its release. Well, they did just that. Today, the “Ghost” teaser was released. It’s awesome. Like the teaser they released for last year’s “Infinite Warfare” expansion, the teaser for “Ghost” starts out with a pregnant woman on a cot, then changes to a black screen, and finally switches to a baby. As the baby is given birth, a light ray illuminates the room. The baby is crawling up an elevator shaft, and then runs into the camera, before the screen cuts out and we hear the familiar voice of Nathan Drake. This is what the teasers for both “Infinite Warfare” and “Ghost” sound like. When it comes to “Ghost,” “Infinite Warfare” and “Black Ops 3,” it’s Drake that we are going to get to see in this year’s “Call of Duty” title. The “Ghost” trailer will be released tomorrow.
